AND THEN SHE POPPED

The "Popping" Occurred In the Rochester, Pa., Depot.

IT SEEMED A GENUINE AFFAIR

The Fair and Winsome Maiden Took Advantage of the Privileges of Leap Year. And the Cold-Blooded Agent Only Smiled.

Leap year comes as a blessing to many a fair maiden, and no doubt the life of many a bashful and modest man has been made happy on account of ye fair maiden assuming control of the situation and doing the "popping" on her own account. Many instances of this character have been related, and the accounts are always and ever read with avidity, especially by those darling lassies who know, by signs unmistakable, that their sweethearts worship the ground on which they tread, but are oftentimes unable to muster courage to tell the old, but ever sweet and thrilling story.

These comments merely lead up to an incident which occurred in the depot at Rochester this morning, while the writer was busily engaged in inditing editorials at that point, for today's issue, and the principals to the conversation did not have the most remote idea that a newspaper fiend was on deck, ever eager for a good item.

The young lady was decidedly handsome, with cheeks aglow as the result of exercise in the cool atmosphere controlling this morning, and as she entered the waiting room, joyful and happy, she was well worthy of inspection. Tripping gaily to the open window of the ticket office, the fair damsel was soon engaged in earnest converse with the handsome young agent, affable and courteous, and bearing the reputation of being quite a ladies' man. Pleasant repartee, bright and sparkling, was engaged in by the couple for a few minutes, and then came the interesting episode, as follows:

"I don't think you have treated me fairly, and I am really angry with you. You know that I had your solemn promise that I should have one of the photos I so much admired; and now you tell me that I cannot have one, as they are all gone."

For a moment the maiden looked at him earnestly, and then with blushing face and eyes downcast, she tremulously and earnestly said:

"No, you can't have one of those photos, as I really had forgotten my promise to you; but—but—but, if you desire it, you may have—have the original."

The murder was out, and, for a moment the youth blushed like a girl, and he seemed dumbfounded—actually incapable of speech. Then the head of the maiden was slowly raised, the lovely eyes gazed out from beneath quivering lashes, and the embarrassment of the situation was fully appreciated by her, while her woman's wit came to her rescue and these fitting words were said, coolly and calmly, although her brave heart must have been beating like a trip hammer:

"I did that very neatly didn't I? Of course you know that I didn't mean it—that I was not in earnest. You know that I wouldn't be so indelicate—so bold. I was merely practising, you know. Of course you know that this is one of the privileges accorded my sex—an avenue for fun and enjoyment. There comes my train; by-bye, by-bye."

And away she went, buoyant of step and light laughter coming from her lovely lips; but the look on her face, as she passed out upon the platform, indicated to experienced eyes the fact that she had ventured on dangerous ground, and that ignominious failure was recorded against her. The young agent finally came to his senses, partially at least; but there was an indescribable look of pain and bewilderment upon his classic features, as he dropped into his office chair and gazed into vacancy.

CALL HIM TO ACCOUNT.

He Will Not Work, and Robs the Working Wife.

There is a case on one street which demands prompt attention at the hands of the proper officials of the city. The husband is a good and skillful workman, and could find steady employment, were it not for the fact that he permits strong drink to rule and control him, and the result is that he has been discharged by different employers, who would have been glad to retain him in their service if he could be relied upon. The wife has been compelled to earn the living for the household, embracing a number of children. The husband not only permits this, but takes a share of her hard earnings in order to get intoxicated for himself. A few days since, the poor woman gave him the necessary sum to pay the monthly rental of the home, and also a one dollar bill for himself, as he demanded some change for his own gratification. The result was a regular jamboree, and the rental has not been paid—every cent of the wife's hard earnings going for rum. The matter is being looked into, and the fellow will be called up with a round turn. When sober he is a good husband and a faithful workman. Now is his chance to reform. If he does so, his friends will forgive him fully and extend a helping hand.

REMEINY.

Read This History of This Justly Famous Violinist.

The following history of this prince of violin players will interest every lover of instrumental music. Read it carefully, and then secure your seats:

Ed Remenyi was born at Moskole, in Hungary, about the year 1840. His master on the violin was Joseph Bohm, who also taught the great Joseph Joachim. During the Hungarian uprising, Remenyi, then quite a boy, enlisted as a soldier and fought bravely; he became aide-de-camp to Gyorogey, when the latter was appointed commander-in-chief of the hero army of Hungary, and though at that time a little lieutenant of 16 summers, Remenyi used to delight the veterans with his music, and make their hearts glad and brave for the next day's fray. After the defeat of the insurgents he had to leave his country, and resolved to go to England. On the way he made the acquaintance of his celebrated countryman, Franz Liszt, who, recognizing his genius, became his friend and adviser. Soon after the young artist's arrival in London he was appointed solo violinist to the queen.

When he obtained his amnesty he returned to Hungary, where he afterwards received from the emperor of Austria a similar distinction to that granted him in England. In the meantime he had made himself famous by numerous concerts in the European capitals. His first tour of America was begun Nov. 11, 1878, and his successes during that and the following season are still fresh in the minds of the public. Since that time he has made a triumphal tour of the entire globe, combining music with circumnavigation, and charming with dulcet strains natives of the Sandwich Islands, Australia, Tasmania, Dutch Indies, Java, India, Madras, Ceylon, China, Japan, Philippine Islands and South Africa, where he remained for a period of three years, returning to Europe for the final concerts of the tour in 1891. It is seldom that a man is accorded the privilege of learning the exact amount of esteem in which he is held by his fellow men by perusing his own obituary.

This curious and unusual experience is an incident in the life of Remenyi, who was reported drowned during his passage from India to South Africa. The sadness which this melancholy information aroused through the civilized world was happily dispelled when six months later dispatches announced his safe arrival at the Cape of Good Hope. Only in one respect has Remenyi's genuine Hungarian nature undergone a change—for years he has abjured smoking and the use of wines and beer. Remenyi's collection of violins is insured for $90,000.

Reserved seats now on sale at Reed's drug store. General admission, 50 cents. Reserved seats, 75 cents.

TOO RICH FOR HER BLOOD.

Trials, Troubles and Tribulations of Ye Grocer.

Yes, verily, even the grocer hath his troubles, and at times his life is made miserable by would-be purchasers. Witness the following action of a fair maiden, a beautiful blonde, got up in irreproachable style. She accosted ye grocery man thusly today, in this fair city of East Liverpool:

"How much are your cucumbers? What, 15 cents? Too rich for my blood. How much for those tomatoes? What! You must think I'm a millionaire. How much are those grapes a pound? What? See here—you're not joking with me? Those are rare grapes, you say, and hard to get. You're right in that, anyway, and I'll not get any this morning. I'll look about and see something which hits my purse."

She did so, after she had attracted the attention of everybody in the grocery, and had been the cause of infinite trouble to ye proprietor and all his clerks, and later purchased a head of cabbage and a pound of fitch.

Population Increasing.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Burdick, Lisbon street, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Reed, Fifth street, a son.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Will Ferguson, Seventh street, a daughter.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lowe, Calcutta road, a daughter.

HAVE PLenty OF MONEY

City Treasurer Herbert Receives the Annual

ADVANCE ON DECEMBER TAXES

The City Is Richer by $10,000, While the Board of Education Received $8,000. The Money Has Also Been Received From the Sale of Bonds.

The city treasury is once more amply supplied with funds, and the finance committee will not be called upon for some time at least to devise plans to pay bills that are due without any money.

City Treasurer Herbert last week received the annual advance on the December taxes from Auditor Harvey, amounting to $10,000, or two-thirds of the total amount due the city. He also received $8,000, or two-thirds of the amount due the school board. This places both the city and school funds in a very good condition, and will undoubtedly last until the remainder arrives in February. According to law the city treasurer can make a demand on the auditor for an advance of two-thirds of the money due the city in February, anytime between Dec. 15 and 30, and the demand is always made by the treasurer of this city.

The money was also received from Lamprecht Brothers from the sale of the improvement bonds, amounting to $21,000.

DEATH OF GEORGE MEREDITH, JR.

A Relapse Caused His Demise—Sympathy For the Family.

After suffering for nine weeks from typhoid pneumonia, George Meredith, Jr., passed away, at the home of his parents, at 10:35 Saturday evening.

The young man was recovering, when he suffered a slight relapse a week ago, and since grew steadily worse. Saturday evening his condition became alarming, and he lingered but a few hours. He was conscious until the end and was surrounded by the family. The funeral will take place from the residence on Fifth street, Wednesday afternoon. Interment will be in Riverview. Deceased was a bright young man, of a genial disposition, beloved by all who knew him. The news of his death will be received with deepest regret.

COASTING ACCIDENT.

Willie Dunn Had a Dangerous Experience.

A coasting accident that might have resulted fatally occurred on Calcutta road, between the bend and the Horn switch, Saturday evening.

Willie Dunn, a 12 year old lad, was sled riding on the pavement, which was very slippery, and descending at such a speed he was unable to steer properly, ran into a tree. He was knocked breathless and his companions, who soon gathered, feared his ribs were broken. The injured lad was hauled on a sled to his home, some distance up the road, and Dr. Williams called. It was found that aside from a great bruise on the side the lad was unhurt.

THE BUSINESS

Transacted at the Telephone Office in Seventy-Two Hours.

The operators at the central telephone office during the 72 hours for which they were to keep a record made 3,333 connections in the city, and received the following number of county calls: Lisbon, 98; Columbiana, 4; East Palestine, 25; Leetonia, 1; Salem, 4; Salineville, 30; Wellsview, 151. The calls transmitted from the office here were not credited to them, but given to the office receiving the call. Toll line calls were also not credited. This will give the public an idea of the business done in the city; but the operators say they were not kept as busy as they have been.

RIVER NEWS.

Virginia Unable to Leave—Perishable Cargo Shipped to Pittsburg.

The river is stationary, and the Sunday packets reached Pittsburg without difficulty. The Virginia is still tied up at the wharf, and from present outlook, will likely remain there for some time. The perishable freight on board was transferred to the Keystone yesterday and taken to Pittsburg. The Argand is laid up at Marietta for the holidays. The Keystone and Ben Hur are due down this evening.

A VALUABLE CANE

Was Stolen Last Evening by Some Miserable Thief.

Dr. J. J. Irtik mourns the loss of a very valuable cane. Last evening he went into the restaurant of Joe Hauck, and laying his hat and cane on the counter, walked to the back part of the room to attend to the wants of Mr. Hauck, who is ill. He was gone but about five minutes, when he returned and discovered that his cane was missing, but his hat was still in its place. The thief had evidently seen the physician lay his cane down, and had come in the front door and taken it. The cane was prized very highly, as it was a present from a friend.

FOR THE NEW YEAR

An Eloquent, Practical Sermon—Exquisite Service of Song.

A large audience was present at the First Presbyterian church on Sunday night. The pastor delivered an eloquent sermon, referring to the dying year and the lessons taught by and through experience, urging his hearers to not only make good resolutions for the coming year; but, under the blessing of God, carry the resolutions into effect. One man was heard to remark, after he left the church: "That sermon hit me and did me good. By the blessing of God I will not only make my resolution, but will carry it out."

The choir rendered, in splendid voice, "The Earth Is the Lord's." The sweet singing was the subject of much favorable comment.

THE STONE CRUSHER

Should Be Bought, if Only to Put One Road in Repair.

California hollow residents think the trustees should buy the proposed stone crusher as soon as possible and put it to work in their part of the township. One resident in conversation with a reporter said: "The road is now almost impassable and something should be done before some one gets hurt. It is impossible to get the commissioners to do anything, and if the trustees will take hold of the matter I am safe in saying residents along the road will each donate 20 days' labor, with teams, to fix it up. There is a great deal of heavy hauling done on the road, and it is a disgrace to leave it in its present condition."

REVIVAL SERVICES

Will Begin Next Week in Two Churches.

Commencing next week, Reverend Hastings will conduct revival services at the Methodist Protestant church for an indefinite period. A short jubilee service was held last evening, and James Nailer was presented with a book by the pastor for sending in the first correct answer to the question "Who Was the Mother of David?"

The annual revival services of the First M. E. church will commence next week and continue indefinitely. Doctor Huston will preach each evening except Saturday, when a prayer meeting will be held.

WAS KEPT QUIET.

A Young Man Uses a Knife on Another in a Quarrel.

A cutting affray that was hushed is reported to have taken place on Fifth street late the other night. Two of a party of young men who had been drinking quarrelled over a difference, and one drew a pocket knife and stabbed the other in the side. A slight wound was inflicted. The injured man swooned away, but revived while being borne to the office of a physician. Realizing the enormity of the deed, the person who did the cutting became repentant and abjectly apologized.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Ceremonies Conducted by the Deputy of the District.

At the regular meeting of the White Rose lodge, No. 25, of the Daughters of St. George, the following officers were installed by District Deputy Mrs. Harley: W. P. Mrs. Eardley; W. V. P. Mrs. Greenwood; W. F. S. Mrs. James Bostock; W. R. S. Mrs. Alcock; W. T. Miss Lewis; W. F. C. Mrs. Lyth; W. S. C. Miss Eardley; W. C. Mrs. Paxton; W. I. G. Miss Harley; W. C. G. Miss Greenwood; trustees, Mrs. Massey, Mrs. Harley, and Miss Alice Bailey.

A PIONEER RESIDENT.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson Passed Away on Saturday.

Harrison Dawson, of Fifth street, was Saturday evening called to Georgetown by a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, had died after a short illness. Deceased was a pioneer resident of Georgetown, was well known in the community, and was highly respected and esteemed by all. She was 80 years of age, and her death is attributed to the infirmities of old age.

Had His Ear Chewed.

An unknown man, who evidently had received rough treatment in a fight, entered Hodson's this morning and purchased court plaster. His ear had been chewed, and was in a lacerated state.

One resident in conversation with a reporter said: "The road is now almost impassable and something should be done before some one gets hurt. It is impossible to get the commissioners to do anything, and if the trustees will take hold of the matter I am safe in saying residents along the road will each donate 20 days' labor, with teams, to fix it up. There is a great deal of heavy hauling done on the road, and it is a disgrace to leave it in its present condition."

REVIVAL SERVICES

Will Begin Next Week In Two Churches.

Commencing next week, Reverend Hastings will conduct revival services at the Methodist Protestant church for an indefinite period. A short jubilee service was held last evening, and James Nailer was presented with a book by the pastor for sending in the first correct answer to the question "Who Was the Mother of David?"

The annual revival services of the First M. E. church will commence next week and continue indefinitely. Doctor Huston will preach each evening except Saturday, when a prayer meeting will be held.

WAS KEPT QUIET.

A Young Man Uses a Knife on Another In a Quarrel.

A cutting affray that was hushed is reported to have taken place on Fifth street late the other night. Two of a party of young men who had been drinking quarrelled over a difference, and one drew a pocket knife and stabbed the other in the side. A slight wound was inflicted. The injured man swooned away, but revived while being borne to the office of a physician. Realizing the enormity of the deed, the person who did the cutting became repentant and abjectly apologized.

OFFICERS INSTALLED.

Ceremonies Conducted by the Deputy of the District.

At the regular meeting of the White Rose lodge, No. 25, of the Daughters of St. George, the following officers were installed by District Deputy Mrs. Harley: W. P., Mrs. Eardley; W. V. P., Mrs. Greenwood; W. F. S., Mrs. James Bostock; W. R. S., Mrs. Alcock; W. T., Miss Lewis; W. F. C., Mrs. Lyth; W. S. C., Miss Eardley; W. C., Mrs. Paxton; W. I. G., Miss Harley; W. C. G., Miss Greenwood; trustees, Mrs. Massey, Mrs. Harley, and Miss Alice Bailey.

A PIONEER RESIDENT.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson Passed Away on Saturday.

Harrison Dawson, of Fifth street, was Saturday evening called to Georgetown by a telegram conveying the sad intelligence that his mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Dawson, had died after a short illness. Deceased was a pioneer resident of Georgetown, was well known in the community, and was highly respected and esteemed by all. She was 80 years of age, and her death is attributed to the infirmities of old age.

HAD HIS EAR CHEWED.

An unknown man, who evidently had received rough treatment in a fight, entered Hodson's this morning and purchased court plaster. His ear had been chewed, and was in a lacerated state.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., MONDAY, DEC. 28

COMMENDATORY. Those officials who are responsible for the late raids on dives and gambling halls are to be commended, and they are deserving of praise for doing their duty. And now they have a still further duty to perform. What is it? The ferreting out of the "policy" game, and the full exposure of those connected therewith. It is an open secret that the game has been going on for some time in East Liverpool, and the dealers are laughing in their sleeves at the police. The detection and punishment of these fellows will prove quite a feather in the cap of the officer who accomplishes the work.

GIVE THEIR NAMES. When a dive or gambling house is "pulled," the inmates arrested invariably give fictitious names. This will answer all right for strangers, whose names are unknown to the mayor and his officers; but no fictitious name should be entered on the docket when the real name is known. If citizens desire to dance, let them pay the fiddler. Turn on the light, Mayor Gilbert, and insist on the real names of those captured in such dens, and you will do much to keep a certain class out of them, and may do much good for those who are connected with them. Give the real names when you know them.

TURN ON THE LIGHT. There are strange rumors about the city respecting the "policy" game being carried on in our midst, and it is said the services of a keen detective would result in exposures which would cause no end of shame and trouble to men who should have too much square sense to dabble in such iniquitous proceedings, and it is high time that they should recognize the truth of the adage "be sure thy sin will find thee out." Ill-gotten gains carry a curse with them. The men who run this "policy" game have a sure thing on their percentage, and they laugh in their sleeves at patrons of the game, terming them "duffers" and "suckers." But, in the long run, just as surely as two and two make four, so surely are the policy dealers and their backers most consummate "greenies" and "suckers," and, just so sure as fate will their ill-gotten gains prove an unwise and unprofitable investment.

HERE'S THE SQUARE THING. When an individual takes out license, the promise is made that the laws and ordinances governing such license and its granting shall be obeyed. When said individual breaks that promise, he or she becomes a criminal—commits a crime; becomes a lawbreaker, and is surely not entitled to consideration at the hands of the law, and the license they hold should, from a sound legal standpoint, be revoked. The law says that it is legal to sell intoxicants, subject to certain restrictions, when one has a license for so doing; but, when the individual or individuals breaks away from those restrictions, he or she becomes a lawbreaker, and is not worthy of trust, and the law says that an untrustworthy party shall not be granted a license to sell intoxicants, as the business is a very dangerous one, and should be hedged about with wise precautionary measures. Revoke the license of lawbreakers, no matter who is hit by this thunderbolt. And night here let it be said, so plainly that no one can misunderstand it, NO OFFICIAL IN EAST LIVERPOOL HAS THE RIGHT TO GRANT PERMISSION TO SELL INTOXICANTS, WHEN THE SELLING COMES UNDER THE BAN OF THE LAW. Any official, no matter who he may be, who dares to so transgress, is a lawbreaker, unfit for his position, is the aider and abettor of criminals and criminality, and will surely come to grief.

JOSEPH BROS.

cropping a Ball Through the Earth. "G. H." of East St. Louis asks the following curious question, "If it were possible to bore a hole a foot or more in diameter entirely through the earth, and to then start a 100 pound ball to falling through this 8,000 miles of hole, at what point would it stop?" In answer to this we will say that weight, in the sense to which our correspondent alludes, is the measure of attraction of gravitation, or, in other words, it is the measure of force with which a body is attracted to the earth. This attractive force decreases both ways from the earth's surface. Therefore if a ball should be started on the tour outlined in your query its weight would decrease to a certain extent with every yard of its flight (or fall), until finally, upon reaching the center of the earth it would have no weight whatever. This curious state of affairs would be brought about by the gradual lessening by the force of attraction, or gravitation, until the center of the globe would have been reached, at which point the ball would be held in suspension, as though fixed by numerous magnetic points. In other words, at the center of the earth the phenomenon of weight is entirely wanting.—St. Louis Republic.

Making Allowances. "Confound the boy," he exclaimed as he opened one of the letters the postman had brought and spilled half his coffee. "What is the matter, dear? Look out! You will spoil the tablecloth," remarked the wife of his bosom. "Tablecloth be hanged. It's that boy Tom." "What has he been doing? I am sure he's getting along finely. He writes me that he is on the eleven." "That's all very well, but here I have a bill from his tailor, and I only paid one last week." "But look at the nice set he is in." "Yes, but why the mischief doesn't he economize? Doesn't the young rascal know the value of money?" "But Tom is so young, dear. You ought to make allowances for him." "Allowances! For heaven's sake! I have been making allowances enough for him, and I'll stop his allowance this month," he cried as he left the breakfast room to go to the office.—Chicago Times-Herald.

BLUNDERS OF SPEAKERS.

A Well Known Orator Points Out Some Humorous Instances. Mr. Joseph Malins, himself a well known public speaker, gives The Woman's Signal some amusing instances of the blunders of public speaking. It is, he thinks, a lack of fluency that causes the speaker so often to blunder. Mr. Malins has listened to a temperance orator deploring the fact that a friend rode his horse rapidly to Hargrove, where the operator telegraphed to Birmingham and Blocton for relief. Meanwhile a few country people gathered at the scene to render what aid they could. Nine people had gotten out and the others had been burned up in the wreckage. When the relief train from Birmingham arrived there was little need for the army of physicians that had gone along. The wounded were quickly attended to and then sent to Blocton for further attention. The work of taking out the dead was entered upon. Charred corpses were packed in between the iron framework where the seats had been. Most of the bodies had been burned beyond recognition. Some had their heads burned off and of others nothing was left but the mere skeleton.

Of the eight other survivors three were children, all of whom had their feet burned and mashed and a lady who had both her feet crushed. The other three were a man, a woman and a child. The man, a handberry, was taking his wife and two children out for a ride around the circuit and Will Gardner and Andrew Bryson, miners from Blocton. Handberry was on the same seat with his wife and children when the crash came. The latter three were killed and he was pinned down and would have been burned alive had he not been rescued by Bryson and Gardner. Those two men, who saved the woman and three children mentioned were likewise pinned and appealing piteously for help. By the time they had rescued these five persons the heat had become so intense that they were compelled to desist in their work of rescue. It is thought that fully three-fourths of the dead were killed outright in the crash while the other fourth were pinned down and down. Gardner and Bryson were both badly hurt while Handberry will probably die. Dr. Ray, a Blocton physician who attended Gardner, one of the injured survivors, telegraphs the statement made by Gardner as to the cause of the wreck. Gardner says when he felt the cars leave the track he looked out and saw three savage looking men rushing from a hidden place down toward the water's edge, and that after the wreck they went through the wreckage, robbing the dead and wounded and then fled to the woods. They did their work quickly and offered no assistance whatever in the way of rescuing the imprisoned and injured passengers. This story, however, has not yet been corroborated, but other facts tend to show that it was the work of train wreckers.

An examination of the engine shows that Engineer White had shut off the steam and reversed before it went down, indicating that he saw danger ahead, as he approached the bridge, and tried to stop his train. His charred body was found with his hand on the throttle. The survivors all agree that the train left the track and crashed plunger through the bridge. Expert engineers say that there is every indication that a rail was removed which derailed the train and caused it to pull down the bridge. The cross-ties show marks of the wheels. To add to this, is the fact that three men tried to wreck a Southern railway train near Henry-Allen, 15 miles east here, five days ago, by removing a rail on a trestle 90 feet high. The fast express left the track, but the engineer managed by superhuman efforts to stop it before it tore down the trestle. This was regarded as a most remarkable escape. In this case three men were seen running from the place and a crowbar with which the spikes had been withdrawn was found. Among those known to have been on the fatal train are the following: Frank White, engineer, Birmingham; A. P. Connel, conductor, Birmingham; George Carney, flagman, Birmingham; Jim Bowling, baggage master, Birmingham; Andrew Bryson, Blocton; J. W. Hoffer, Blocton; Will Dusten, Blocton; M. E. Clarke, Blocton; G. Jackson, Blocton; John McGinnis, Peter Thurston and John Gallagher. All the bodies are charred beyond recognition. The following have so far been identified: Frank White of Birmingham, engineer, aged 40, leaves a wife and five children: A. P. Connel of Helena, conductor, aged 36, leaves a wife and two children; George Carney of Birmingham, flagman, leaves a wife and child; James Bolling of Guthrie, Ky., southern express messenger, aged 25; Will Webb, residence unknown, identified by name on watch; Mrs. Henry Handberry of Birmingham and two children; George Williams of Brookwood, Ala.; L. M. Martin of Brookwood, Ala. Seventeen other bodies have not yet been identified. Another serious wreck has occurred near Cahaba river bridge. A wrecking train which had gone to the relief of the ill-fated passenger train was standing on the line when it was run into by a construction train from Birmingham which was on its way with men and timbers to rebuild the destroyed Cahaba river bridge. Jim Estis of Boyles was fatally crushed and several workmen more or less hurt.

WRECKED BY FIENDS.

Train Thrown Through a Bridge in Alabama.

Either Killed by the Fall or Burned to Death—Some Charred Beyond Recognition—Three Robbers Said to Have Rifled the Bodies.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 28.—Fiends in human form have wrecked the Birmingham Mineral passenger train No. 40 at Cahaba river bridge, 27 miles from here, and 25 lives were lost. That number of bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and further search may swell the list of dead. The wreck is regarded as having been almost certainly accomplished by the removal of the rail on the middle span of the trestle. This derailed the train which caused it to fall through two spans and precipitated it into the river 110 feet below. The wreck was the worst that has ever occurred in the state and the survivors are so few, and so badly hurt that they are unable to give any detailed description of how it all happened. It is not known and may never be ascertained just how many passengers were on the train. Most of them were miners and residents of mining towns in this district who had round trip holiday tickets and were returning to their homes along the line of the Birmingham Mineral railroad.

Conductor A. P. Connel, who probably knew better than anybody else as to how many passengers were aboard is dead. It is thought, however, that there were not exceeding 25 or 30. The train was a small local passenger, which, starting from Birmingham, runs to a point near Gurney, then goes over a connecting link of track controlled by the Southern railway and known as the Brierfield, Blocton, and Birmingham road. The train returns to the Louisville and Nashville tracks at Blocton and makes the return trip to Birmingham, after a circuit touching numerous mining towns in that region.

Six miles south of Gurney is the Cahaba river, a shallow mountain stream which has a depth at this time of only about three or four feet. This river is spanned by an iron bridge with wooden trestles on each side. Its entire length is 800 feet, and the length of the main span, where the wreck occurred, is 110 feet. The bridge was built only four years ago, and was regarded as a very strong structure. The main span and the span just beyond it, both made of iron, gave way and precipitated the entire train into the river. The engine landed on its side, almost at right angles with the track. The cars piled up on each other through the main span. The entire wreck took fire soon afterward and was rapidly burned to the water's edge.

The first news of the wreck was brought to Hargrove, a telegraph station four miles from the Cahaba river, by a farmer who said that while passing near the place he heard a crash. Going nearer he saw the two spans of the bridge broken out. He then discovered the burning wreckage in the shallow water below. He could hear the groans of the wounded and dying, but without waiting to see further he rode his horse rapidly to Hargrove, where the operator telegraphed to Birmingham and Blocton for relief. Meanwhile a few country people gathered at the scene to render what aid they could. Nine people had gotten out and the others had been burned up in the wreckage. When the relief train from Birmingham arrived there was little need for the army of physicians that had gone along. Indiana Mine Explosion. Six Lives Lost in the Disaster at Princeton, Ind. PRINCETON, Ind., Dec. 28.—The explosion of gas in the Princeton mine shaft was not so serious as believed. Six miners were killed while one is missing and is believed to be dead. Eight men were rescued almost lifeless, but it is thought they will recover. The dead are James Reil, Theodore Faber, John Holmes, Carl Poneylite, John Ernest and Robert Maule, son of the president and secretary of the company. Those rescued were William Grill, Frank Turbie, Thomas Thice, colored, William Booker, James Turner, David Nolan, Arthur Colgate, colored, and James Cruse, colored. Robert Poneylite, head blacksmith, is missing.

SMASHED A M'KINLEY HORN. Mob Also Burned the Flag Accompanying It, at Franklin, Ind. FRANKLIN, Ind., Dec. 28.—The McKinley marching club of Tuscola, Ill., carrying a mammoth horn to Washington, afoot, has had a tough experience at Trafalgar, six miles west of here. While the carriers were at dinner at the home of Dr. Byers, a mob sent a delegate to Dr. Byers' house to give the men just 10 minutes to leave the town. The mob tore off and burned the flag and smashed the horn into a shapeless mass. An effort will be made to patch it up in order to continue the journey.

Kate Field's Funeral. SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The final obsequies over the remains of the late Kate Field were held in Trinity church yesterday afternoon. Many prominent people were there and others sent floral offerings, among them President Cleveland. The body was cremated. It will be buried in Boston at the expense of H. H. Kohlsaat of Chicago.

Venezuela Is Satisfied. NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Senator Jose Andrade, Venezuelan minister to the United States, accompanied by James J. Stewart, counsel for Venezuela before the United States boundary commission, has arrived in this city. Andrade indicated that Venezuela was satisfied with the treaty.

Terrible Fight Among Drunken Men. HINTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.—At Mt. Hope mines, on the Louisa Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio, a terrible fight has occurred among drunken men which resulted in the death of two brothers, Richard and John Legg, and the fatal shooting of James Moore.

Sheriff Accused of Theft. HINTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.—A. C. Arbogast, sheriff of Pocahontas county, has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement upon affidavits of some of his sureties. At the preliminary hearing he waived examination. The court fixed his bond at $10,000.

The Taung Rebels Defeated. CAPE TOWN, Dec. 28.—The Taung rebels, whose uprising had begun to assume serious proportions, have been utterly routed at Pokwani, and the orders to the volunteers to proceed to the reinforcement of the British troops have been cancelled.

A Noted Presbyterian Worse. NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The condition of the venerable Dr. Charles Butler, president of the corporation of Union Theological seminary, who is ill with pneumonia, is worse.

A Failed Banker Suicide. CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Otto Wassmann, the banker who failed recently as a result of the collapse of Illinois National bank, has committed suicide.

Charles W. Hoffman Dead. FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 28.—Charles W. Hoffman, librarian of the United States supreme court since 1873, has died at his home in this city of pneumonia.

CONGRESS IS SUPREME.

DEFINES PRESIDENT'S POWERS, But Even in the Exercise of These, He May Be Restricted by the Action of the Lawmaking Body—The Constitution Quoted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senator William E. Chandler of New Hampshire has written the following letter to the Washington Post: "The new immigration law, if it passes, will require foreigners coming to live in this country to read and write as a test five lines of the United States constitution. There are certain five lines which eminent Spanish-American lawyers ought to read. "Section 8, after enumerating in 17 clauses the powers of congress, adds another, as follows: "Eighteen—To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States or in any department or officer thereof."

"A study of the above clause may lead some of the defiant advocates of an arrogant personal government at the executive mansion to revise their assertions. "It is not contended that the above clause 18 gives congress power by law passed over a veto by a two-thirds vote to interfere with any power made exclusive in the president by express words or necessary implication. What are the powers expressly given to the president? "First—To command the army and navy. "Second—To grant pardons. "Third—To make treaties (with the consent of the senate.) "Fourth—To appoint officers of the United States. "Fifth—To convene congress and to adjourn it when the two houses disagree. "Sixth—To receive ambassadors and other public ministers. "Eighth—To commission officers of the United States. "The above are all the powers granted. Compare them with the long list of powers given to congress, including that to declare war and to provide for the common defense and general welfare and ending with the power given in the above clause 18 to make all laws necessary and proper to carry into execution all the powers vested in the government or in any department or office thereof.

"The president may command the army and navy. Yes, but congress by law may give him specific directions what to do with them, to use them in any particular direction, or not to use them at all. He may grant pardons. Yes, this is an exclusive and uncontrollable power, but congress may by law open all prison doors and let the criminals go free. He may make treaties, with the consent of the senate, and they become law. Here is the only power to make law not vested in congress. He may appoint officers. Yes, but congress may create and abolish the offices, and regulate the power of appointment by civil service rules; he is not a commissioner, all officers, but he can commission only those who are appointed in pursuance of law. He is to receive the foreign ministers. Yes, but only ministers from countries which congress chooses to have recognized. If two governments are striving for control of a country, congress may by law decide which government the United States will recognize, and the president is bound to obey the law and receive a minister from that government and refuse to receive a minister from the other.

"The idea that the president has the sole prerogative of deciding what foreign governments shall be recognized by the United States, has no foundation whatever in any words to be seen in the constitution. The fact that the president has recognized new governments without congressional expression, when congress and the people have approved his action is no proof whatever that when they disagree with him they cannot control him by law. He is their agent, and when he does what they want him to do, no law is needed. When he threatens to conduct himself otherwise, whether by action or non action the whole subject may be controlled by a law passed over a veto, under the ample powers in congress granted by section 8 of article 1 of the constitution, which are not restricted nor limited in this respect by any other clauses in the constitution. There is no escape for the advocates of monarchical government in Washington from the provisions of clause 18, section 8, article 1.

"It is singular that the only two presidents who have undertaken to defy congress have been Andrew Johnson and Grover Cleveland. Whatever the will of congress ten new state governments in this Union, the other claims the right against the will of congress to aid in sustaining abroad a bloody tyranny over an oppressed nation. Mr. Johnson betrayed and abandoned the party which elected him, his treachery was condemned by all right-minded men, and he went out of office without a party and without a friend. Mr. Cleveland still lingers with us."

MAY QUIT LECTURING. Bryan Says He Has Work Which May Interfere With Lecture Plans. LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 28.—The following has been given out by W. J. Bryan: "Mr. McBee has with my consent transferred his contract to H. Briggs & Co., of Greenville, S. C. Only five lectures have been arranged for up to this time. Whether I shall deliver any in addition to that number is as yet uncertain. I have some further work on hand which may interfere with further lecturing during this season."

General Meredith Read Dead. PARIS, Dec. 28.—General Meredith Read is dead. At different times he was United States consul general to France and United States minister to Greece.

COMMENDATORY.
Those officials who are responsible for the late raids on dives and gambling hells are to be commended, and they are deserving of praise for doing their duty.
And now they have a still further duty to perform. What is it? The ferreting out of the "policy" game, and the full exposure of those connected therewith.
It is an open secret that the game has been going on for some time in East Liverpool, and the dealers are laughing in their sleeves at the police. The detection and punishment of these fellows will prove quite a feather in the cap of the officer who accomplishes the work.

GIVE THEIR NAMES.
When a dive or gambling house is "pulled," the inmates arrested invariably give fictitious names. This will answer all right for strangers, whose names are unknown to the mayor and his officers; but no fictitious name should be entered on the docket when the real name is known. If citizens desire to dance, let them pay the fiddler. Turn on the light, Mayor Gilbert, and insist on the real names of those captured in such dens, and you will do much to keep a certain class out of them, and may do much good for those who are connected with them. Give the real names when you know them.

TURN ON THE LIGHT.
There are strange rumors about the city respecting the "policy" game being carried on in our midst, and it is said the services of a keen detective would result in exposures which would cause no end of shame and trouble to men who should have too much square sense to dabble in such iniquitous proceedings, and it is high time that they should recognize the truth of the adage "Be sure thy sin will find thee out." Ill-gotten gains carry a curse with them.
The men who run this "policy" game have a sure thing on their percentage, and they laugh in their sleeves at patrons of the game, terming them
"duffers" and "suckers." But, in the long run, just as surely as two and two make four, so surely are the policy dealers and their backers most consum-mate "greenies" and "suckers," and,
just so sure as fate will their ill-gotten gains prove an unwise and unprofitable investment.

HERE'S THE SQUARE THING.
When an individual takes out license, the promise is made that the laws and ordinances governing such license and its granting shall be obeyed. When said individual breaks that promise, he or she becomes a criminal—commits a crime; becomes a lawbreaker, and is surely not entitled to consideration at the hands of the law, and the license they hold should, from a sound legal standpoint, be revoked. The law says that it is legal to sell intoxicants, subject to certain restrictions, when one has a license for so doing; but, when the individual or individuals breaks away from those restrictions, he or she becomes a lawbreaker, and is not worthy of trust, and the law says that an untrustworthy party shall not be granted a license to sell intoxicants, as the business is a very dangerous one, and should be hedged about with wise precautionary measures. Revoke the license of law-breakers, no matter who is hit by this thunderbolt. And right here let it be said, so plainly that no one can misunderstand it, NO OFFICIAL IN EAST LIVERPOOL HAS THE RIGHT TO GRANT PERMISSION TO SELL INTOXICANTS, WHEN THE SELLING COMES UNDER THE BAN OF
THE LAW. Any official, no matter who he may be, who dares to do so transgress, is a lawbreaker, unfit for his position, is the aider and abettor of criminals and criminality, and will surely come to grief.

Christmas and New Year Excursions.
Low rate round trip tickets will be sold Dec. 24 and 31, 1896, and Jan. 1, 1897, inclusive. For rates, time of trains and other details, apply to Pen-sylvania line ticket agents.

It is simply a ? of $$$

That's all it is—a plain, honest question of keeping or giving away three dollars. You can't, by twist of the facts, figure it in any other way.

38 Men's Overcoats, sold at $13, black and blue kersey, extra fine trimmings, well made, all wool goods,

A Leader at $10.00.

Special sale in Suits, one and two of a style left, $$$ to $$$$$ of a saving. This will surely induce you to call and see these suits. They have been good sellers and are stylish goods.

NEW YEARS GIFTS.

An old custom, which many of our people prefer.
Probably you had forgotten on Christmas to give a present. To those who have done this we say

NEVER TOO LATE TO GIVE A PRESENT.

A few leaders we mention is: $12 Smoking Jackets at $9; $9 Smoking Jackets at $7; 75c Neckwear, about 8 to 10 dozen left, we will sell at 48c; Handkerchiefs, Mufflers, Gloves, all at reduced prices to make it interesting for the remaining days of the old year.

To one and all, and the business fraternity, we wish a happy and prosperous new year.

JOSEPH BROS.

Strapping a Ball Through the Earth.

"G. H." of East St. Louis asks the following curious question, "If it were possible to bore a hole a foot or more in diameter entirely through the earth, and to then start a 100 pound ball to falling through this 8,000 miles of hole, at what point would it stop?" In answer to this we will say that weight, in the sense to which our correspondent alludes, is the measure of attraction of gravitation, or, in other words, it is the measure of force with which a body is attracted to the earth. This attractive force decreases both ways from the earth's surface. Therefore if a ball should be started on the tour outlined in your query its weight would decrease to a certain extent with every yard of its flight (or fall), until finally, upon reaching the center of the earth it would have no weight whatever. This curious state of affairs would be brought about by the gradual lessening by the force of attraction, or gravitation, until the center of the globe would have been reached, at which point the ball would be held in suspension, as though fixed by numerous magnetic points. In other words, at the center of the earth the phenomenon of weight is entirely want-

Making Allowances.

"Confound the boy," he exclaimed as he opened one of the letters the postman had brought and spilled half his coffee.
"What is the matter, dear? Look out!
You will spoil the tablecloth," remarked the wife of his bosom.
"Tablecloth be hanged. It's that boy Tom."
"What has he been doing? I am sure he's getting along finely. He writes me that he is on the eleven."
"That's all very well, but here I have a bill from my tailor, and I only paid one last week."
"But look at the nice set he is in."
"Yes, but why the mischief doesn't he economize? Doesn't the young rascal know the value of money?"
"But Tom is so young, dear. You ought to make allowances for him."
"Allowances! For heaven's sake! I have been making allowances enough for him, and I'll stop his allowance this month," he cried as he left the breakfast room to go to the office.—Chicago

BLUNDERS OF SPEAKERS.

A Well Known Orator Points Out Some Humorous Instances.

Mr. Joseph Malins, himself a well known public speaker, gives The Woman's Signal some amusing instances of the humors of public speaking. It is, he thinks, a lack of fluency that causes the speaker so often to blunder. Mr.
Malins has listed to a temperance orator deploring the fact that a friend resorts to "the frequent use of the daily glass." He heard a notable lady speaker speak of slum children "brought into the world with no more idea of home comfort than the children of negroes in Africa."

One speaker said, "I rise emphatically," and another said, "I stand prostrate with astonishment." Yet another feelingly told his audience that it was "not the platform speaker, but the house to house visitation and the utterance of the silent word by the caller which did the most good." The statements that "the previous speaker's suggestions were very suggestive" and that another speaker's remarks were "miscalculated to mislead" Mr. Malins also mentions.

Then there is the speaker who always misplaces his "h's" and who prays "that we might be brought to the halter." There was a flight of fancy when the speaker asked, "Suppose if a modern balloon dropped upon an uninhabited island, what would the natives say?" The scientific lecturer said of his coming experiment that "all depends upon the present condition of the body about to be created." A town councilor spoke of "the rivers and streams that about the borough boundaries." Among Mr. Malins's other examples is the speaker who began with saying, "The proper study of mankind in general is the—study of mankind in general," whereupon an urchin in the audience cried out, "You're a-goin in at the same hole you came out at."

No less embarrassed was the old gentleman, who, stumbling through an after dinner speech, said, "I—I have no more to say, and so—and so—I'll make a few more remarks." The builder frankly declared he was "more fitted for the scaffold than the platform." Sometimes the chairman errs in welcoming the speaker. A chairman was heard to welcome a speaker as one "who is always with us, and we wish he would come oftener." Kind was the announcement that "there will be two more opportunities to hear the lecturer once more." It was when the meeting ended that the chairman asked the audience to "close by singing just one verse of the doxology."

WRECKED BY FIENDS.

Train Thrown Through a Bridge in Alabama.

27 KNOWN TO HAVE PERISHED.

Either Killed by the Fall or Burned to Death—Some Charred Beyond Recognition—Three Robbers Said to Have Killed the Bodies.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Dec. 28.—Fiends in human form have wrecked the Birmingham Mineral passenger train No.
40 at Cahaba river bridge, 27 miles from here, and 25 lives were lost. That number of bodies have been recovered from the wreck, and further search may swell the list of dead. The wreck is regarded as having been almost certainly accomplished by the removal of the rail on the middle span of the trestle.
This derailed the train which caused it to fall through two spans and precipitated it into the river 110 feet below. The wreck was the worst that has ever occurred in the state and the survivors are so few, and so badly hurt that they are unable to give any detailed description of how it all happened. It is not known and may never be ascertained just how many passengers were on the train. Most of them were miners and residents of mining towns in this district who had round trip holiday tickets and were returning to their homes along the line of the Birmingham Mineral railroad.

Conductor A. P. Connell, who probably knew better than anybody else as to how many passengers were aboard is dead. It is thought, however, that there were not exceeding 25 or 30.

The train was a small local passenger, which, starting from Birmingham, runs to a point near Gurney, then goes over a connecting link of track controlled by the Southern railway and known as the Brierfield, Blocton, and Birmingham road. The train returns to the Louisville and Nashville tracks at Blocton and makes the return trip to Birmingham, after a circuit touching numerous mining towns in that region.

Six miles south of Gurney is the Cahaba river, a shallow mountain stream which has a depth at this time of only about three or four feet. This river is spanned by a bridge of wooden trestles on each side. Its entire length is 800 feet, and the bridge of the main span, where the wreck occurred, is 110 feet. The bridge was built only four years ago, and was regarded as a very strong structure. The main span and the span just beyond it, both made of iron, gave way and precipitated the entire train into the river. The engine landed on its side, almost at right angles with the track. The cars piled up on each other through the main span. The entire wreck took fire soon afterward and was rapidly burned to the water's edge.

The first news of the wreck was brought to Hargrove, a telegraph station four miles from the Cahaba river, by a farmer who said that while passing near the place he heard a crash.
Going nearer he saw the wreckage of the bridge broken off. He then discovered the burning wreckage in the shallow water below. He could hear the groans of the wounded and dying, but without waiting to see further he rode his horse rapidly to Hargrove, where the operator telegraphed to Birmingham and Blocton for relief.
Meanwhile a few country people gathered at the scene to render what aid they could, but it was too late to do much. Nine people had gotten out and the others had been burned up in the wreckage. When the relief train from Birmingham arrived there was little need for the army of physicians that had gone along. The wounded were quickly attended to and then sent to Blocton for further attention.

The work of taking out the dead was entered upon. Charred corpses were packed in between the iron framework where the seats had been. Most of the bodies had been burned beyond recognition. Some had their heads burned off and of others nothing was left but the mere skeleton.

Of the survivors Sam Spencer was the only one of the train crew that escaped alive. He was the colored fireman. He jumped from the engine while it was in mid air and landed in the water some distance from where the engine fell.
His only injury was a broken arm. He left the scene for Blocton on foot almost immediately after the wreck, apparently crazed with fright. The railroad officials have not yet been able to see him and get a statement.

Of the eight other survivors three were children, all of whom had their feet burned and mangled and a lady who had both her feet crushed. The other three were Henry Handberry, a conductor from Birmingham who was taking his wife and two children out for a ride around the circuit and Will Gardner and Andrew Bryson, miners from Blocton. Handberry was on the same seat with his wife and children when the crash came. The father, three were killed and he was pinned down and would have been burned alive had he not been rescued by Bryson and Gardner.
Those two men also saved the woman and three children mentioned who were likewise pinned and appealing piteously for help. By the time they had rescued these five persons the heat had become so intense that they were compelled to desist in their work of rescue.

It is thought that fully three-fourths of the dead were killed outright in the crash while the other fourth were pinned down and cremated. Gardner and Bryson were both badly hurt while Handberry will probably die.

Dr. Ray, a Blocton physician who attended Gardner, one of the injured survivors, telegraphs the statement made by Gardner as to the cause of the wreck.
Gardner says when he felt the cars leave the track he looked out and saw three savage looking men rushing from a hiding place down toward the water's edge, and that after the wreck they went through the wreckage, robbing the dead and wounded and then fled to the woods. They did their work quickly and offered no assistance whatever in the way of rescuing the imprisoned and injured passengers. This story, however, has not yet been corroborated, but other facts tend to show that it was the work of train wreckers.

An examination of the engine shows that Engineer White had shut off the steam and reversed before it went down, indicating that he saw danger ahead, as he approached the bridge, and tried to stop his train. His charred body was found with his hand on the throttle.

The survivors all agree that the train left the track and bumped along the ties and then with a crash plunged through the bridge. Expert engineers say that there is every indication that a rail was removed which derailed the train and caused it to pull down the bridge. The crossings show marks of the wheels. To add to this, is the fact that three men tried to wreck a Southern railway train near Henry-Allen, 15 miles east here, five days ago, by removing a rail on a trestle 90 feet high.
The fast express left the track, but the engineer managed by superhuman efforts to stop it before it tore down the trestle. This was regarded as a most remarkable escape. In this case three men were seen running from the place where the train with which the spikes had been withdrawn was found.

Among those known to have been on the fatal train are the following:
Frank White, engineer, Birmingham;
A. P. Connell, conductor, Birmingham; George Carney, flagman, Birmingham; Jim Bowling, baggage master, Birmingham; Andrew Bryson, Blocton; J. W.
Hoffer, Blocton; Will Dusten, Blocton;
M. E. Clarke, Blocton; G. Jackson, Blocton; John McClintock, Peter Thurston and John Gallagher.

All the bodies are charred beyond recognition.

The following have so far been identified:
Frank White of Birmingham, engineer, aged 40, leaves a wife and five children; A. P. Connell of Helena, conductor, aged 35, leaves a wife and two children; George Carney of Birmingham, flagman, leaves a wife and child; James Bolling of Guthrie, Ky., southern express messenger, aged 25; Will Webb, residence unknown, identified by name on watch; Mrs. Henry Han-berry of Birmingham and two children;
George Williams of Brookwood, Ala.; L. M. Martin of Brookwood, Ala.

Seventeen other bodies have not yet been identified.
Another serious wreck has occurred near Cahaba river bridge. A wrecking train which had gone to the relief of the ill-fated passenger train was standing on the line when it was run into by a construction train from Birmingham which was on its way with men and timbers to rebuild the destroyed Cahaba river bridge. Jim Estis of Boyles was fatally crushed and several workmen more or less hurt.

INDIANA MINE EXPLOSION.

Six Lives Lost in the Disaster at Princeton, Ind.

PRINCETON, Ind., Dec. 28.—The explosion of gas in the Princeton mine shaft was not so serious as believed.
Six miners were killed while one is missing and is believed to be dead.
Eight men were rescued almost lifeless,
but it is thought they will recover.

The dead are James Reil, Theodore Faber, John Holmes, Carl Poneylite, John Ernest and Robert Manle, son of the president and secretary of the company.
Those rescued were William Grill, Frank Turbie, Thomas Thice, colored, William Booker, James Turner, David Nolan, Arthur Colgate, colored, and James Cruse, colored.

Robert Poneylite, head blacksmith, is missing.

SMASHED A M'KINLEY HORN.

Mob Also Burned the Flag Accompanying It, at Franklin, Ind.

FRANKLIN, Ind., Dec. 28.—The Mc-Kinley marching club of Tuscola, Ill., carrying a mammoth horn to Washington afoot, has had a tough experience at Trafalgar, six miles west of here.
While the carriers were at dinner at the home of Dr. Byers, a mob sent a delegate to Dr. Byers' house to give the men just 10 minutes to leave the town.
The mob tore off and burned the flag and smashed the horn into a shape-less mass. An effort will be made to patch it up in order to continue the journey.

Kate Field's Funeral.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 28.—The final obsequies over the remains of the late Kate Field were held in Trinity church yesterday afternoon. Many prominent people were there and others sent floral offerings, among them President Cleveland. The body was cremated. It will be buried in Boston at the expense of H. H. Kohlhaas of Chicago.

Venezuela Is Satisfied.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Senator Jose Andrade, Venezuelan minister to the United States, accompanied by James J. Storrow, counsel for Venezuela before the United States boundary commission, has arrived in this city. Andrade indicated that Venezuela was satisfied with the treaty.

Terrible Fight Among Drunken Men.

HINTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.—At Mt.
Hope mines, on the Lone Creek branch of the Chesapeake and Ohio, a terrible fight has occurred among drunken men, which resulted in the death of two brothers, Richard and John Legg, and the fatal shooting of James Moore.

Sheriff Accused of Theft.

HINTON, W. Va., Dec. 28.—A. C. Arbogast, sheriff of Pocahontas county, has been arrested on a charge of embezzlement upon affidavits of some of his subordinates. At the preliminary hearing he waived examination. The court fixed his bond at $10,000.

The Taung Rebels Defeated.

CAPE TOWN, Dec. 28.—The Taung rebels, whose uprising had begun to assume serious proportions, have been utterly routed at Pokwani, and the orders to the volunteers to proceed to the reinforcement of the British troops have been cancelled.

A Noted Presbyterian Worso.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—The condition of the venerable Dr. Charles Butler, president of the corporation of United Theological seminary, who is ill with pneumonia, is worse.

A Failed Banker Suicides.

CHICAGO, Dec. 28.—Otto Wasmanndorff, the banker who failed recently as a result of the collapse of Illinois National bank, has committed suicide.

Charles W. Hoffman Dead.

FREDERICK, Md., Dec. 28.—Charles L. D. Hoffman, of the United States supreme court since 1878, has died at his home in this city of pneumonia.

CONGRESS IS SUPREME.

Senator Chandler Differs With Secretary Olney.

DEFINES PRESIDENT'S POWERS,

But Even in the Exercise of These, He May Be Restricted by the Action of the Lawmaking Body—The Constitution Quoted.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Senator Willam E. Chandler of New Hampshire has written the following letter to the Washington Post:

"The new immigration law, if it passes, will require foreigners coming to live in this country to read and write as a test five lines of the United States constitution. There are certain five lines which eminent Spanish-American lawyers ought to read.

"Section 8, after enumerating in 17 clauses the powers of congress, adds another, as follows:

"Eighteen—To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States or in any department or officer thereof."

"A study of the above clause may lead some of the defiant advocates of an arrogant personal government at the executive mansion to revise their assertions.

"It is not contended that the above clause 18 gives congress power by law passed over a veto by a two-thirds vote to interfere with any power made exclusive in the president by express words or necessary implication. What are the powers expressly given to the president?

"First—To command the army and navy.

"Second—To grant pardons.

"Third—To make treaties (with the consent of the senate).

"Fourth—To appoint officers of the United States.

"Fifth—To convene congress and to adjourn it when the two houses disagree.

"Sixth—To receive ambassadors and other public ministers.

"Eighth—To commission officers of the United States.

"The above are all the powers granted.
Compare them with the long list of powers given to congress, including that to declare war and to provide for the common defense and general welfare and ending with the power given in the above clause 18 to make all laws necessary and proper to carry into execution all the powers vested in the government or in any department or office thereof.

"The president may command the army and navy. Yes, but congress by law may give him specific directions what to do with them, or not to use them at all. He may grant pardons.
Yes, this is an exclusive and uncontrollable power, but congress may by law open all prison doors and let the criminals go free. He may make treaties, with the consent of the senate, and they become law. Here is the only power to make law not vested in congress. He may appoint officers. Yes, but congress may create and abolish the offices, and regulate the power of appointment by civil service rules; he is to commission only officers, but he can commission only those who are appointed in pursuance of law. He is to receive the foreign ministers. Yes, but only ministers from countries which congress chooses to have recognized.

"If two governments are striving for control of a country, congress may by law decide which government the United States will recognize, and the president is bound to obey the law and receive a minister from that government and refuse to receive a minister from the other.

"The idea that the president has the sole prerogative of deciding what foreign governments shall be recognized what the United States has no foundation whatever in any words to be seen in the constitution. The fact that the president has recognized new governments, without congressional expression, when congress and the people have approved his action is no proof whatever that when they disagree with him they cannot control him by law. He is their agent, and when he does what they want him to do, no law is needed.
When he threatens to conduct himself otherwise, whether by action or non-action the whole subject may be controlled by a law passed over a veto, under the ample powers in congress granted by section 8 of article 1 of the constitution, which are not restricted nor limited in this respect by any other clauses in the constitution. There is no escape for the advocates of monarchical government in Washington from the provisions of clause 18, section 8, article 1.

"It is singular that the only two presidents who have undertaken to defy congress have been Andrew Johnson and Grover Cleveland. The one tried to create and maintain against the will of congress ten new state governments in this Union, the other claims the right against the will of congress to aid in sustaining abroad a bloody tyranny over an oppressed nation. Mr. Johnson betrayed and abandoned the party which elected him, his treachery was condemned by all right-minded men, and he went out of office without a party and without a friend. Mr. Cleveland still lingers with us."

MAY QUIT LECTURING.

Bryan Says He Has Work Which May Interfere With Lecture Plans.

LINCOLN, Neb., Dec. 28.—The following has been given out by W. J. Bryan:
"Mr. McBee has with my consent transferred his contract to H. Briggs & Co., of Greenville, S. C. Only five lectures have been arranged for up to this time. Whether I shall deliver any in addition to that number is as yet uncertain. I have some further work on hand which may interfere with further lecturing during this season."

General Meredith Read Dead.

PARIS, Dec. 28.—General Meredith Read is dead. At different times he was United States consul general at France and United States minister to Greece.

OUR SPANISH CRITICS.

One Thinks Us the Embodiment of Daniel's Prophecy.

INFERIOR TO THE SPANIARDS

In a Military Way, Is Another Opinion. Senor Moret Urges Spain to End the War in Cuba, While We Quarrel Over a Constitutional Question.

MADRID, Dec. 28.—El Liberal publishes letters from leading political personages on the relations between Spain and the United States.

Signor A. Pidal, president of the chamber of deputies, says in his letter that some writers consider that the American Union is a prototype of the world's democracies. Wiser thinkers have reckoned up at its true value this gigantic agglomeration of new peoples. Serious statesmen are aware that strife, especially economical is inevitable between Europe, whose champion now is Spain, and the "American colossus," which was foreseen by the Prophet Daniel with a head of iron, a breast of silver, a belly of bronze and feet of clay.

Proceeding then to compare America with wealthy bankers Senor Pidal argues that she will think twice before attacking the poor Hidalgo, whose only defense is his ancestral sword. "Spain must not display bravado," Senor Pidal continues, "but a calm determination to preserve her colonies, confiding in the justice of her cause and leaving the result to providence. Those who once shouted 'Berlin' established later the horrors of the Commune. Spain is not invincible, but she is not a despicable enemy, and history shows that in many instances a small and desperate army has routed superior forces."

General Pando writes that he knows thoroughly the offensive and defensive power of the United States and he knows the Americans themselves and is convinced that they are inferior to the Spanish. Therefore America would be the greatest sufferer at first.

"Though this is my opinion, as a military man," General Pando adds "as a citizen I do not desire war. Who knows how the conflict would end?"

General Pando proceeds to urge the importance of immediate diplomatic efforts between Madrid and Washington to settle the difficulty and, if possible, to terminate the rebellion without fighting to the bitter end.

"Let America have a chance," General Pando is quoted further as saying: "To show by her acts whether her friendship is sincere, nothing is so dangerous as delay. But what ever comes, the Spanish army is ready to repeat the deeds of our forefathers on American soil in defense of country and honor."

Senor Moret, the democratic liberal, writes a letter pointing out the safety and correctness of President Cleveland and Mr. Olney's policy and the danger of a departure from it for the United States internal affairs. "Spain," he says, "can benefit by the American constitutional war to a rapid end and establishing reforms before April. The Spanish government may now see its way to accept the good offices of President Cleveland after despising the warning of native political parties. The government's policy is incomprehensible. It is capable of granting autonomy in Cuba while establishing the inquisition in the Philippines. Who can tell whether the government will arrive at an understanding or will declare war with the United States? Perhaps after Captain General Weyler with 40 battalions has cleared the province of Pinar del Rio of rebels the government, with a stroke of the pen, may establish autonomy in Cuba."

WOULD DESECRATE SUNDAY.

A New York Supreme Judge Refuses Hebrew Society a Charter.

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Justice Roger A. Pryor of the supreme court has denied the application of the Agudath Hachiloah, a Hebrew religious society, for a certificate of incorporation. The justice takes exception to this clause of the articles of incorporation: "The time of holding its annual meeting is to be on each and every second Sunday of January of each and every year."

Justice Pryor says: "The question is not whether such meetings on Sunday are illegal, but whether they should be approved by a justice of the supreme court. A thing may be lawful and yet not laudable."

"As justice of the supreme court I may not approve that which the immortal and uniform policy of the state condemns. Because the holding of corporate meetings on Sunday is contrary to the public policy of the state, if not to the letter of its law, I decline to approve this certificate."

ARMOR PLATES DEFECTIVE.

Secretary Herbert May Inaugurate a New Method of Inspection.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Secretary Herbert May has taken up for consideration the report of the special board which investigated the complaints from the Newport News constructors that steel of inferior quality had been supplied by the Carnegie works for the battleships Kentucky and Kearsarge.

Secretary Herbert will probably substitute expert civilian inspectors for the inexperienced naval officers now employed, acting under a special board composed of a constructor and engineer and one line officer, for the present steel board, made up of line officers.

FIRST TARIFF HEARING.

The Committee on Ways and Means Commenced Work Today.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 28.—Formal work on the tariff bill was begun by the ways and means committee today when the first of the series of hearings which are to extend over 13 days was held.

Judged by the amount of correspondence which has come to the committee on the subject there is more widespread interest in the forthcoming bill than has attached to any other revision of the tariff and the number of business men who desire to appear before the committee is usually great. The program arranged by Chairman Dingley and his colleagues contemplates sessions from 10 to 4 o'clock. To hear all the interests which will be on the ground, with one or two schedules of the bill to be covered each day by the representatives of every interest will be obliged to condense their statements. No allotment of time has been made in advance to any applicants, but on each day the committee will arrange a program based on the number who appear to speak. Instead of listening to each member of the various delegations, the committee will avoid repetitions by asking every delegation to select a spokesman to present its views.

Several labor organizations have signified their intention to make arguments before the committee in the interest of protection for the industries in which they are workers. In addition there will be representatives of various commercial bodies as well as the usual delegations of manufacturers, producers of raw materials and importers.

The statements made orally to the committee as the more valuable of the written statements submitted will be printed. After the hearings to outsiders it is probable that government officials, particularly the appraisers, will be called upon for assistance and expert testimony from other quarters may be asked.

IN REALITY PIRATES.

The Cubans Scared Over the Recent Alleged Sea Fight With Spain—Crew of the Three Friends May Suffer For Piracy Instead of Filibustering.

TAMPA, Fla., Dec. 28.—The developments in Cuban circles have been startling and the actors in the recent alleged sea fight with Spanish war vessels who were on board the Three Friends are badly frightened over the gravity of the situation in which they have been involved. They find themselves instead of being in a dangerous position as filibusters to be in the unenviable position of pirates, and the wisest Cuban heads have been summoned in consultation.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Scott Wike was at Key West investigating the matter, but the absence of a district attorney at that place made detention a farce.

No denial had been made of the story by officials of the Three Friends. Their silence was an admission.

In that case Spain may make requisition for this government for the persons who were aboard and this government has no alternative but their delivery.

Mr. Wike is to leave today on the cutter Forward for Key West, where the fullest possible details of the serious situation will be obtained.

When the Olivette arrived from Havana Col. Emilio Nunez, Carillo and several other Cubans were on board.

Captain O'Brien of the Three Friends also was a passenger. Col. Nunez admitted that the story of the engagement was true and appeared particularly proud. He had been the captain of all the recent expeditions. When they learned of Assistant Secretary Wike's presence the boasting changed to consternation as the light in which they were regarded dawned upon them.

Other passengers besides Nunez confirm the story. It is also learned that the arms of the last expedition fell into Spanish hands.

A Fire In Brooklyn.

Will Reorganize the Bank.

ST. PAUL, Dec. 28.—At a meeting of the officers, directors and a few stockholders of the failed bank of Minnesota, it was decided to reorganize the bank.

A Bank to Quit Business.

THE COLUMBUS FAILURE.

It Is a Big One, the Company Having Large Liabilities.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The failure of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron company of this city, which has passed into the hands of Receiver J. O. Moss of Sandusky, the application being made by the receivers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, is a heavy one, the company having a capital of $500,000, bearing 6 per cent interest, and other large liabilities. The application was made after the Baltimore and Ohio company had taken judgments against the coal company for $60,405 on three notes given in payment of transportation. One note for $37,000 and another for $23,000 were executed last May and one for $22,000 was executed only last Wednesday.

The company owns 18,000 acres of coal lands, mostly situated in Ohio, five iron furnaces and other property. It is understood that both the stockholders and bondholders were agreeable to the appointment of a receiver, and they will endeavor to effect a reorganization, the present management not having been satisfactory to them for some time past.

THOROUGH AMERICAN CLOTHES.

Order Given For Major McKinley's Inauguration Suit.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—The inauguration suit that Major McKinley will wear March 4 next will be American clear through. The cloth will be woven especially for the occasion by the Hockanum Manufacturing company of New York and will be a single weaving. It will be of American grown wool and no more will be woven than will suffice to make the suit.

When woven the cloth will be sent to the major's tailor, Koebel of Cleveland, and by him the suit will be cut and made.

TOOK THE SACRAMENT.

Major McKinley Participated In Church Services at Canton.

CANTON, Dec. 28.—President-elect McKinley spent the greater part of Sunday at his home, receiving callers informally.

In the morning he attended quarterly communion service at the First Methodist Episcopal church, accompanied by his niece, Miss Duncan of Cleveland, who took the sacrament with the major.

In the afternoon he took a short drive and spent a part of the time allotted to this exhilarating pastime in a visit to his mother's.

A Failure at Akron.

AKRON, O., Dec. 28.—Andrew Jackson, a prominent business man of this city, assigned Saturday. The action also precipitated the assignment of Jackson & Brodbeck, brick manufacturers, and the appointment of a receiver for the firm of Jackson & Lyman, lumber dealers. Andrew Jackson being heavily interested in both concerns. The liabilities are placed at $65,000, with assets probably exceeding that amount.

Chinese Laundryman Assaulted.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 28.—Sam Lung, a Chinese laundryman, has been probably fatally wounded at his place on Washington street. He was almost unable to talk when found, and all he could say was that two "Mexican men" had hit him with a large iron bolt and robbed him. His skull is fractured in several places and he can hardly survive. The police have no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

A Free Course in School.

WINCHESTER, O., Dec. 28.—The Adams County Agricultural society, through Dr. W. H. Coleman, president, and T. W. Ellison, secretary, has appointed Mrs. Ella Shriver of Manchester township to the free course in the Ohio university at Columbus, as this county's representative. Mrs. Shriver will take the domestic science course.

Accused of Horsestealing.

WEST UNION, O., Dec. 28.—John Tumbleton drove a horse and buggy from J. G. Moss' stable here to a country dance, and when he was ready to leave found the rig gone. Al Adamson and "Banty" West of Bentonville were arrested, charged with stealing the rig.

Burned In His Hut.

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 28.—Charles Hurtig was fatally burned in a hut in which he lived, while intoxicated. He was taken to the hospital, where his death is momentarily expected.

DEATH OF JOSEPH D. WEEKS

The Pittsburgher, a Man Well Known in the Industrial World.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Joseph D. Weeks, editor of The American Manufacturer and Iron World, has died at his home from apoplexy. Mr. Weeks had international reputation as an authority on subjects relating to iron and steel. He was born in Lowell, Mass., Dec. 2, 1840, graduated from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Ct., and was an M. E. minister for eight years.

At the time of his death he was president of the Western Iron association, secretary of the Pennsylvania Tax conference, United States statistician and editor of The American Manufacturer, and one of the experts in the Monon Navigation company condemnation proceedings. He has made several trips to Europe as agent of the United States government on industrial matters and performed special service in the collection of statistics for the census report in 1890.

He was a 33d degree Mason, and stood very high in the business and industrial world. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Emma Foster Weeks, now a student at the Woman's college, Baltimore.

Tried to Cremate Him.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 28.—Roscoe Finley, the tax collector in Greenfield township, this county, has been waylaid, beaten into insensibility, robbed and then hauled into his barn, which was fired by the wild-bee assassins. Finley had collected between $300 and $800. But for the fact that a neighbor entered the barn to release the cattle and horses and stumbled over Finley's body he would have been cremated.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

At 7:30 this morning the mercury registered 12 degrees above.

NEW YORK, Dec. 28.—Fire has destroyed the repair shops of the Bushwick division of the Brooklyn Heights Railway company and a four-story frame building nearby, in Brooklyn. Total loss, $95,000; well covered by insurance.

Will Reorganize the Bank. ST. PAUL, Dec. 28.—At a meeting of the officers, directors and a few stockholders of the failed bank of Minnesota, it was decided to reorganize the bank.

A Bank to Quit Business.

Graveyard Literature.

The fashion of the world changes, and the trade of the epitaph maker grows slack. Here and there, it is true, some one is still honored after the old custom, but for the most part a text, appropriate or the reverse, a brief record of birth and death, a word or two of vague and general significance, with possibly a simple expression of regret, have replaced in our modern cemeteries those short-hand histories of the dead, tragic or humorous, tender or severe, some stained with wine and made bloody, and some as with tears, which formerly marked their resting places.

It is not that in these later years men have lost that craving for remembrance which, as old as life itself, is so vain, in the case at least of the commonality of the race, that it might well be a subject for laughter were it not that what, seen from without is purely grotesque, assumes quite another complexion when it is touched by our own personality. It is not that the desire to be remembered is gone, and it is likely enough that in some fashion or another we should all still be epitaph makers, for ourselves or other people, if we had not lost faith in the permanency of the work. But time brings involuntary wisdom. "Our fathers find their graves in our short memories, and sadly tell us how we may be buried in our survivors." "While I live," promises a lover with melancholy truthfulness in a Roman epitaph quoted by Mr. Pater—"while I live you will receive this homage; after my death, who can tell?" And so it comes to pass that, submitting to the inevitable, men learn to limit their aspirations and to content themselves, by way of epitaph, with the "two narrow words, 'He jaet,' " with which, says Sir Walter Raleigh, "eloquent death" covers all.—I. A. Taylor in North American Review.

All That Was Lacking.

He had been away on a business trip for quite a long time and had brought his wife a handsome fan on his return. "It's just perfectly lovely, Harry," she said. "It's the daintiest and most beautiful fan I ever saw." "I'm glad you like it," he returned, with evident gratification. "How could I help liking anything so pretty?" she asked, and then she added, with a sigh, "I only wish I could carry it some time."

"Why can't you?" he demanded. "No gown to go with it," she answered promptly. "There ought to be a gown to match, or at least one that wouldn't look shabby beside it, if"—She got the gown. He kicked himself for two days, and ever thereafter bought fans to match what she already had.—Chicago Post.

American Sentenced In Cuba.

HAVANA, Dec. 28.—The reunited tribunal which judged the proceedings against Julio Sangulay, a naturalized American citizen, charged with conspiracy against the Spanish government, has decided that Sangulay was guilty of a modified qualification of the crime of which he was accused, and sentenced him to eight years and one day imprisonment. He may get a new trial.

Quay Is Confident.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Senator M. S. Quay spent Saturday in Pittsburgh, attending to some private business and seeing a number of political friends. He is confident that Wanamaker is defeated for the senatorship. He will go to Harrisburg Wednesday to help Penrose manage his fight.

A Fire In Massachusetts.

ALBANY, Mass., Dec. 28.—The post-office block has been badly damaged by fire. The loss on the building and on property of the various occupants will amount to $200,000. Insurance about $100,000.

Weather.

PITH OF THE NEWS.

At a dance at Elijah Boyd's at Vancor, Ky., Charles Plummer cut George Layworth, perhaps fatally.

George Hahn, a fireman, fell off a ladder at a fire at Nelsonville, O., and broke his nose and jaw. He may die.

Thieves effected an entrance into the general store of Bradley & Johnson at Bentonville, O., and secured $30 in cash and a lot of goods.

At Montgomery, W. Va., Andy Miller and Will Combs quarreled and Miller was shot and badly wounded.

Abe Henson, colored, one of the members of the gangs of thieves and outlaws who reside on the Welsh mountains, near Lancaster, Pa., was shot and killed by his step-brother, Jerry Green, who is also a noted criminal.

A casualty is reported at Nashville, the burning to death of Mary Lee, colored, whose clothes caught fire from an exploding firecracker. Before she knew it her clothes were in flames, and before assistance could reach her she was burned beyond recovery.

By making a speech to a mob Governor Stone of Missouri prevented the lynching of Tobe Lashan, colored, for murdering a young colored girl.

THE COLUMBUS FAILURE.

It Is a Big One, the Company Having Large Liabilities.

COLUMBUS, Dec. 28.—The failure of the Columbus and Hocking Coal and Iron company of this city, which has passed into the hands of Receiver J. O. Moss of Sandusky, the application being made by the receivers of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad company, is a heavy one, the company having a capital of $5,000,000, with outstanding bonds of $300,000, bearing 6 per cent interest, and other large liabilities. The application was made after the Baltimore and Ohio company had taken judgments against the coal company for $20,405 on three notes given in payment of transportation. One note for $27,000 and another for $1,405 were executed last May and one for $22,000 was executed only last Wednesday.

The company owns 18,000 acres of coal lands, mostly situated in Ohio, five iron furnaces and other property. It is understood that both the stockholders and bondholders were agreeable to the appointment of a receiver, and they will endeavor to effect a reorganization, the present management not having been satisfactory to them for some time past.

THOROUGH AMERICAN CLOTHES.

Order Given For Major McKinley's Inauguration Suit.

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28.—The inauguration suit that Major McKinley will wear March 4 next will be American clear through. The cloth will be woven especially for the occasion by the Hockanum Manufacturing company of New York and will be a single weaving. It will be of American grown wool and no more will be woven than will suffice to make the suit.

When woven the cloth will be sent to the major's tailor, Koebel of Cleveland, and by him the suit will be cut and made.

TOOK THE SACRAMENT.

Major McKinley Participated In Church Services at Canton.

CANTON, Dec. 28.—President-elect McKinley spent the greater part of Sunday at his home, receiving callers informally. In the morning he attended quarterly communion service at the First Methodist Episcopal church, accompanied by his niece, Miss Duncan of Cleveland, who took the sacrament with the major. In the afternoon he took a short drive and spent a part of the time allotted to this exhilarating pastime in a visit to his mother's.

A Failure at Akron.

AKRON, O., Dec. 28.—Andrew Jackson, a prominent business man of this city, assigned Saturday. The action also precipitated the assignment of Jackson & Brodbeck, brick manufacturers, and the appointment of a receiver for the firm of Jackson & Lyman, lumber dealers. Andrew Jackson being heavily interested in both concerns. The liabilities are placed at $65,000, with assets probably exceeding that amount.

Chinese Laundryman Assaulted.

SPRINGFIELD, O., Dec. 28.—Sam Lung, a Chinese laundryman, has been probably fatally wounded at his place on Washington street. He was almost unable to talk when found, and all he could say was that two "Melican men" had hit him with a large iron bolt and robbed him. His skull is fractured in several places and he can hardly survive. The police have no clue to the perpetrators of the deed.

A Free Course In School.

WINCHESTER, O., Dec. 28.—The Adams County Agricultural society, through Dr. W. H. Coleman, president, and T. W. Ellison, secretary, has appointed Mrs. Ella Shriver of Manchester township to the free course in the Ohio university at Columbus, as this county's representative. Mrs. Shriver will take the domestic science course.

Accused of Horsestealing.

WEST UNION, O., Dec. 28.—John Tumbleson drove a horse and buggy from J. C. Moss' stable here to a country dance, and when he was ready to leave found the rig gone. Al Adamson and "Banty" West of Bentonville were arrested, charged with stealing the rig.

Burned In His Hut.

FINDLAY, O., Dec. 28.—Charles Hurtig was fatally burned in a hut in which he lived, while intoxicated. He was taken to the hospital, where his death is momentarily expected.

DEATH OF JOSEPH D. WEEKS

The Pittsburgher, a Man Well Known in the Industrial World.

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 28.—Joseph D. Weeks, editor of The American Manufacturer and Iron World, has died at his home from apoplexy. Mr. Weeks had international reputation as an authority on subjects relating to iron and steel. He was born in Lowell, Mass., Dec. 2, 1840, graduated from Wesleyan university, Middletown, Ct., and was an M. E. minister for eight years.

At the time of his death he was president of the Western Iron association, secretary of the Pennsylvania Tax conference, United States statistician and editor of The American Manufacturer, and one of the experts in the Monon Navigation company condemnation proceedings. He has made several trips to Europe as agent of the United States government on industrial matters and performed special service in the collection of statistics for the census report in 1890.

He was a 33d degree Mason, and stood very high in the business and industrial world. He leaves a wife and one daughter, Emma Fowler Weeks, now a student at the Woman's college, Baltimore.

Tried to Cremate Him.

ERIE, Pa., Dec. 28.—Roscoe Finley, the tax collector in Greenfield township, this county, has been waylaid, beaten into insensibility, robbed and then hauled into his barn, which was fired by the would-be assassins. Finley had collected between $200 and $300. But for the fact that a neighbor entered the barn to release the cattle and horses and stumbled over Finley's body he would have been cremated.

AND THE VERY HEAVY COST

Caused Judge Smith to Fine William Williamson Only $5, but the Entire Bill Will Amount to $99—Other News of the County Courts.

Lisbon, Dec. 28.—[Special]—A judgment on a promissory note for $175.50 has been given T. G. Rogers against James L. Dyke, and an order of sale issued for a 7½ acre tract of land in Middletown township to obtain the amount.
A. L. Funkhouser has recovered judgment against Irvin McGee for $3,342.17, due on a promissory note given in 1891,
and a mortgage on the defendant's machine shop in Negley was ordered foreclosed. McGee assigned two weeks since for the benefit of his creditors.

The motion for a new trial in the case of William Morgan against Benton D. Smith, which was tried during this term, has been overruled by Judge Smith.

The case of Belinda McGillivray against Frank P. Duff has been ordered from the docket.

The case of Mary Pollard against Anthony Collins has been settled, and the case of Cass Sumsten against Anthony Collins has been dismissed.

The $2,716 claim held by Barbara Mc-Calla, of Salem, against the estate of the late David McCalla, of Wichita, Kansas, which the probate court refused to allow, has been brought to common pleas on appeal. The application was filed by her on Saturday against Margaret Zimmerman and other heirs. The claim was filed in probate court last week, and was founded on a promissory note and funeral expenses.

L. B. Webb has filed a suit in court against John W. Slayter and wife to recover on a promissory note, foreclose a mortgage and put to sale lot 7 in Strawn's addition to Salem. The note is dated April '92, and calls for $725.
Amelia Rodericks has some interest in the property, and is made defendant.

Joseph Vogel and Samuel Beal, owners of 41 lots in Samuel Beal's addition to East Liverpool, which was commenced in 1892, have petitioned court that the addition may be vacated and restored to acreage. The addition comprises about 7 1-10 acres.

William Williamson, who was recently convicted of assault and battery committed on Doctor Gardner, was arraigned this morning for sentence, and in lieu of the fact that the crime was not altogether without provocation, and costs amounted to $85, Judge Smith fined him but $5 and costs, to stand committed until fine and costs are paid.

C. H. Smith, who was made receiver of the Pittsburgh, Marion and Chicago

THEIR TEAMS RAN OFF

And Two Sled Loads of Young People Were Dumped In the Snow.

A party of well known young people took a sled ride Saturday evening to Somerset, for the purpose of attending the Christmas entertainment and treat at the Brick church. All went well with the party until they were about two miles on their homeward journey, when two of the teams became frightened and ran off. The sleds were upset, throwing the occupants out in the snow, but luckily no one was seriously injured.

The party were compelled to walk to a farm house, where they spent the time until their teams could be captured.

A COLD BATH.

The Ice Broke and Several People Went Into the River.

A number of young people who were skating Saturday afternoon on the river congregated in one spot, and as a result the ice broke, causing some of them to go into the water. The water was not deep, and their companions rescued them as soon as possible and they were started for home. Beyond a slight cold, none of the victims of the accident suffered any ill effects from their cold bath.

Twice Postponed.

Owing to the illness of Squire Manley, the case of Harry Hughes against James Hague, to have been tried this morning, was postponed indefinitely. Plaintiff sues for $17.30, which he claims is the amount Hague owes him. This is the second time the case has been postponed.

Inspecting Boilers.

M. A. Lloyd, an insurance inspector from Pittsburgh, has been in the city since Thursday, making the rounds of the potteries insured in the company he represents. He is inspecting boilers.

A NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huston Thrown From a Sleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Huston, of Calcutta, met with an accident Saturday afternoon which came near resulting fatally. They were on their way to visit Mrs. Huston's mother, when their horse became frightened and started to run. In attempting to stop the horse the bit was broken, and the occupants of the sleigh were powerless to stop the maddened rush of the animal. Mrs.
Huston became badly frightened, and in attempting to jump from the sleigh was thrown violently to the ground and severely bruised. The horse ran but a few rods when Mr. Huston was pitched headlong out of the sleigh. Both parties were badly bruised, but not seriously injured.

SENT DOWN THE RIVER.

Bealer Family Furnished With Transportation to Their Former Home.

The Bealer family will be sent to their former home in Pleasant county by the trustees, this evening. They have been living in a shanty boat on the river shore at the foot of Union street, and were in dire distress. For months they have been dependent upon the trustees for sustenance. The family consists of a mother and three children.

William Strichline, aged 37 years, will be taken to the infirmary this afternoon or tomorrow morning. Through exposure he had his feet frozen, and he is in a bad way. Strichline is half witted, and has no abode. He also has been a public charge for some time.

THE BROTHERHOOD FAIR

Is Drawing Large Crowds to Fifth Street
Rink.

The Brotherhood fair attracted a large crowd to the Fifth street rink Saturday night, and was unusually interesting.
W. H. Moore won the stove, while R. E.
Baxter took the carving set. M. F.
Cochran was the winner of the tea set and W. H. Moore and John Downard each took a lemonade set. Thomas Bettridge won the teapot, and the lamp went to John Haney. Harry Owens got the sled, and the door prize, a pair of vases, went to No. 723. Tonight Professor Roe will be on hand with his beautiful stereopticon views, and the rink should be crowded. A number of valuable prizes will also be given away.

HOTEL LAKE.

This Temperance Hotel Is a Pronounced Success.

The Hotel Lake, East Second street, near the depot, is a pronounced success,
and patrons speak of it in warm terms of praise. The interior is handsome and furnished with rare good taste, the wide-awake proprietor evidently believing that the best is the cheapest, and embraces true economy. The table is supplied with all the luxuries and substantials, and the wants of the inner man are catered to in such a manner as to irresistibly attract him to the hotel again. The sitting room is as cosy and comfortable as that of a nicely furnished home residence. The Hotel Lake will do to tie to.

BIG CONTRACT.

An Immense Reservoir to be Constructed in Utah.

Charles Connell, of Youngstown, who contracted with the city and had charge of the construction of the Fourth street school building, has another immense contract on hand. Mr. Connell, who is well known here, was a bidder for the construction of a reservoir of great size in Utah. Recently he was informed his bid was the lowest and would be accepted. Mr. Connell left for Utah to close the deal. The reservoir will cost upwards of $500,000 to build.

ALL THAT WAS MORTAL

Of the Late Joseph Kinney Laid to Rest Yesterday.

The funeral of Joseph Kinney took place yesterday, and was largely attended. Services were conducted at his late residence by Reverend Huston, and the choir of the Georgetown Methodist Episcopal church sang beautifully. The floral offerings were numerous and very handsome. The Knights of Pythias had charge of the funeral and marched in a body to the cemetery, where the burial rites of the order were observed.

A BAD FALL.

Andy Kerr Had His Hand Cut on a Picket Fence.

Last evening as Andy Kerr was turning the corner of Fourth and Market streets, his feet slipped and he started to fall. As he fell his right hand struck the picket fence surrounding the residence of Doctor Thompson, running the point of the picket through his glove and cutting a slight gash in his hand.

WIVES OF GERMANS.

AN AMERICAN GIRL'S POSITION WHEN SHE MARRIES A BARON.

How She Has to Economize In the Use of Her Own Money—An Authority on the Subject Writes For the Benefit of Young Women In This Country.

Few questions have been put to me as a test to my foreign experience oftener than the familiar: "Ought American girls to marry German men? Are such unions happy? Do they turn out well?" What class of men is it that step outside the beaten track of home matrimony to seek American wives and transplant them into the life of the fatherland? writes Baroness von Wedel
in Cosmopolitan.

In respect to the marriages of American girls with German men, they may be approved of safely in the cases of practical, worldly minded women and of very young or of very gentle temper-ment girls. Wives who possess little sentiment or only soft sentiments yield readily to their environment, the latter giving way unconsciously, and hence without pain, the former with foresight and with a purpose selfish enough, as we may assume, to recompense them for their renunciations.

As for the class of willful, silly, pretentious women, they are happy nowhere. German society should not be called too harshly to account, therefore, if they are wretched in marrying into
it. We must concede, if we are fair minded, that they would have been just as discontented in any other geographical position as in the fatherland.

The inquiry begins with our average girls. They represent American wives whose happiness is influenced by the specifically foreign traits in their husbands and their husbands' society and surroundings. However they may vary in character, they are alike in their Americanism, and it is republican principles which are opposed in them to the aristocratic education of the men of their choice.

It is a false prejudice to suppose that these or the titled gentlemen who take American wives are mere fortune hunters and degenerated specimens of nobility. They are often men, it is true, who could not marry women without dowries, for gentlemen on the continent, as it must be kept continually in mind, are excluded from the chances of making money.

Where cases of dissipation of the great fortunes of American wives occur and are duly reported, two or three things are sometimes overlooked. The

AND THE VERY HEAVY COST

Caused Judge Smith to Fine William Williamson Only $5, but the Entire Bill Will Amount to $90. Other News of the County Courts.

Lisbon, Dec. 28.—[Special].—A judgment on a promissory note for $175.50 has been given T. G. Rogers against James L. Dyke, and an order of sale issued for a 7½ acre tract of land in Middletown township to obtain the amount.

A. L. Funkhouser has recovered judgment against Irvin McGee for $3,342.17, due on a promissory note given in 1891, and a mortgage on the defendant's machine shop in Negley was ordered foreclosed. McGee assigned two weeks since for the benefit of his creditors.

The motion for a new trial in the case of William Morgan against Benton D. Smith, which was tried during this term, has been overruled by Judge Smith.

The case of Belinda McGillivray against Frank P. Duff has been ordered from the docket.

The case of Mary Pollard against Anthony Collins has been settled, and the case of Cass Samsten against Anthony Collins has been dismissed.

The $2,716 claim held by Barbara McCalla, of Salem, against the estate of the late David McCalla, of Wichita, Kansas, which the probate court refused to allow, has been brought to common pleas on appeal. The application was filed by her on Saturday against Margaret Zimmerman and other heirs. The claim was filed in probate court last week, and was founded on a promissory note and funeral expenses.

L. B. Webb has filed a suit in court against John W. Slayter and wife to recover on a promissory note, foreclose a mortgage and put to sale lot 7 in Strawn's addition to Salem. The note is dated April '92, and calls for $725. Amelia Rodericks has some interest in the property, and is made defendant.

Joseph Voegel and Samuel Beal, owners of 41 lots in Samuel Beal's addition to East Liverpool, which was commenced in 1892, have petitioned court that the addition may be vacated and restored to acreage. The addition comprises about 7-10 acres.

William Williamson, who was recently convicted of assault and battery committed on Doctor Gardner, was arraigned this morning for sentence, and in lieu of the fact that the crime was not altogether without provocation, and costs amounted to $85, Judge Smith fined him but $5 and costs, to stand committed until fine and costs are paid.

C. H. Smith, who was made receiver of the Pittsburgh, Marion and Chicago railroad in this court some time ago, has submitted his final report and been dismissed.

Charles E. Davis and Minerva Moore, East Liverpool, were granted a marriage license.

THEIR TEAMS RAN OFF

And Two Sled Loads of Young People Were Dumped in the Snow.

A party of well known young people took a sled ride Saturday evening to Somerset, for the purpose of attending the Christmas entertainment and treat at the Brick church. All went well with the party until they were about two miles on their homeward journey, when two of the teams became frightened and ran off. The sleds were upset, throwing the occupants out in the snow, but luckily no one was seriously injured. The party were compelled to walk to a farm house, where they spent the time until their teams could be captured.

A COLD BATH.

The Ice Broke and Several People Went Into the River.

A number of young people who were skating Saturday afternoon on the river congregated in one spot, and as a result the ice broke, causing some of them to go into the water. The water was not deep, and their companions rescued them as soon as possible and they were started for home. Beyond a slight cold, none of the victims of the accident suffered any ill effects from their cold bath.

WIVES OF GERMANS.

AN AMERICAN GIRL'S POSITION WHEN SHE MARRIES A BARON.

How She Has to Economize in the Use of Her Own Money—An Authority on the Subject Writes For the Benefit of Young Women in This Country.

Few questions have been put to me as a test to my foreign experience oftener than the familiar: 'Ought American girls to marry German men? Are such unions happy? Do they turn out well? What class of men is it that step out side the beaten track of home matrimony to seek American wives and transplant them into the life of the fatherland?' writes Baroness von Wedel in Cosmopolitan.

In respect to the marriages of American girls with German men, they may be approved of safely in the cases of practical, worldly minded women and of very young or of very gentle tempered girls. Wives who possess little sentiment or only soft sentiments yield readily to their environment, the latter giving way unconsciously, and hence without pain, the former with foresight and with a purpose selfish enough, as we may assume, to recompense them for their renunciations.

As for the class of willful, silly, pretentious women, they are happy nowhere. German society should not be called too harshly to account, therefore, if they are wretched in marrying into it. We must concede, if we are fair minded, that they would have been just as discontented in any other geographical position as in the fatherland.

The inquiry begins with our average girls. They represent American wives whose happiness is influenced by the specifically foreign traits in their husbands and their husbands' society and surroundings. However they may vary in character, they are alike in their Americanism, and it is republican principles which are opposed in them to the aristocratic education of the men of their choice.

It is a false prejudice to suppose that these or the titled gentlemen who take American wives are mere fortune hunters and degenerated specimens of nobility. They are often men, it is true, who could not marry women without dowries, for gentlemen on the continent, as it must be kept continually in mind, are excluded from the chances of making money.

Where cases of dissipation of the great fortunes of American wives occur and are duly reported, two or three things are sometimes overlooked. The first is that, if the cases were not rare, they would hardly be considered worth offering to the public as shocking facts. The second is that the fortune evidently was limited. The next may surprise us, for it is a truth that has not been realized by our home staying countrymen—I mean the fact that foreigners lay the blame on the American wife. Why, the relatives ask, did she not bring more money into the connection?

What they mean, and what they feel justified by the usages of their class in meaning, is that young noblemen do nothing unusual in being extravagant. If the consort of such a man brings wealth enough for her to be luxurious, too, no objection to that is valid. But the head of the house is the member who is the representative of his rank, together with the munificence that is suitable to it, and where the mutual fortune is circumscribed it becomes the duty of the wife to retrench her outlays in order to allow him to continue representing their station without too much danger of bankrupting the family means. German wives economize the more in proportion as their husbands spend.

American born wives, on the contrary, have drawn the reputation upon themselves of being incapable of this sort of sacrifice. I have learned to look for the real tragedies among foreign marriages in the silent cases. These women of character and ambition, united in a fervid temperament, keeping their post like soldiers, are admirable wives often of admirable men, yet they endure the constant realization of the chosen places of their thoughts being foreign to the ways and thoughts of their husband and the world about them. There are modern women of strong and distinct lives whose inner principles are supreme protests against the system of living which their marriages unknowingly drew them into—exiles from the soil, and above all, the soil of republicanism.

Both law and custom grant men authority over women. The bride passes from the parental control into the control of her husband, and, if she live to be a widow, into that of her son.

Our girls know theoretically before marriage that they must be subservient to their husbands as German wives and that the obstacles to happiness lie in the path of wifely independence. The gentle footpath of submission is free from hindrance.

Philadelphia Chickens.

'The idea that Philadelphia chickens are the best is not a mere fancy,' said a poultry man. 'They are really the best. There is something in the soil of the country around Philadelphia that is favorable to the best growth and development of the chicken, just as there is something in other parts of the country that promotes the highest development of the horse.'—New York Sun.

A Legal Opinion.

'Do you think there is anything in this case?' asked the junior partner of the law firm. 'Certainly,' answered the senior partner. 'Our client is worth a million.'—Detroit Free Press.

Gustavus Adolphus was the Snow King, from the fact that his dominions were termed the Snow Kingdom.

LAVENDER LEAVES.

The waving corn was green and gold. The damask roses blown. The bees and busy spinning wheel Kept up a drowsy drone. When Mistress Standish, folding down Her linen, white as snow, Between it laid the lavender, One summer long ago.

The slender spikes of grayish green, Still moist with morning dew, Recalled a garden sweet with box Beyond the ocean's blue— An English garden, quaint and old, Where graves the shadows throw And so she dropped a homesick tear That summer long ago.

The yellow sheets grew worn and thin And fell in many a shred. Some went to bind a soldier's wounds, And some to shroud the dead. And Mistress Standish reared her soul Across the sea shadows throw And violet blossom, planted there In summers long ago.

But still between the royal rose And lady lily tall Springs up the modest lavender Beside the cottage wall. The spider spins her gossamer Across it to and fro— The ghost of linen laid to bleach One summer long ago.
